In today's gospel Jesus reveals his power over death by raising Lazarus from the dead. The prophet Ezekiel prophesies God breathing new life into dry bones. To those in exile or living in the shadows of death, these stories proclaim God's promise of resurrection. In baptism we die with Christ that we might also be raised with him to new life. At the Easter Vigil we will welcome the newly baptized as we remember God's unfailing promise in our baptism.

Hymnals for Worship

The green hymnals(LBW) in the pews are the Lutheran hymnals from 1978, while a new "cranberry" colored hymnal (ELW) was introduced in 2006. While the entirety of our worship service is viewed on the screens, some have mentioned wanting to read music for our hymns. Please grab a hymnal from the narthex if you'd like to have one for worship today!

"Ask The Pastor"

Submit an anonymous question in the offering plate, and you might get your question answered in the Weekly Update! Have a Bible question? A Church question? A burning query about what the number of candles means and why? Ask away!

You asked, I'll answer!

Question: "I've never read the Bible. It seems too overwhelming. Where do I start?"

Answer:

What an honest question, thanks! You're not alone, the Bible is a BIG book. However, it's easier to think of it as a library of books. 66 books, compiled and written over thousands of years. They are separated into two volumes for easy reference, the first volume being the Old Testament, or Hebrew Bible. This is the story of Creation and God's people. The second volume is the New Testament, starting with Jesus and moving through the first century or two of "church."

In your community library there are many different genres of books, and it's the same in the Bible. There's history books, poetry and song, letters, prophecy, and more. We read each differently, as we'd read a book of historical fiction differently from a book of poetry or a recipe or a lawn mower manual. Each book has an author and a particular audience, and because of the great span of time and cultural differences across the ages it can be a challenge to not only interpret, but to just keep track of who's doing what and why. Learning the stories, like we do in Sunday School, and hear in church, help to give us a frame of reference to start to understand how the pieces fit together.

I'd recommend starting with a Gospel (Matthew, Mark or Luke or John) I think Luke is the easiest for a couple reasons. These are narratives of Jesus' life and ministry, from the perspective of one of his disciples, birth to death. This includes what Jesus did, where he went, what he said, what the reactions of the people were, and why, based on that disciples perspective. The word Gospel means Good News, and these were written to share the Good News of Jesus Christ's life, death, and resurrection far and wide.

"Ask The Pastor"

Answer continued:

Then try a short letter. The book called Phillippians was written to the church in Philippi by the Apostle Paul, and has lots of encouragement, challenges, personal faith statements, and greetings to the local community. It would have been read aloud to the gathered church.

You'll need a good study bible, which the church has plenty of, so come see me! The study bible has a brief overview of each book, so you can go into your reading knowing some of the "who, what, where, and why" of the book. I also have some short books on the subject of "how" to read the Bible and what's in the Bible.

After you dip your toe into the New Testament, try some stories from Genesis or a song from the Psalms. Some of the middle of the Hebrew Bible does get bogged down in details of kingdom management, temple building, laws about sacrifices, and so forth. Don't get discouraged! Come talk to me or another church friend, and we can figure out together what to read next! Reading together is a lot easier than on your own.

Some Christians seem to think that knowing how to quote scripture word for word gives them some sort of street cred. Some people really do have good memories when it comes to that, and have favorite passages they can repeat as a prayer. But knowing what the words are on the page is different than knowing the story of God's love for the world. Read to find out the story, not the chapter and verse. Blessings on your reading!

LENTEN WEDNESDAYS: SPIRITUAL DRUMMING

One way to improve conscious contact with God through prayer and meditation is with music. Drumming has been used in nearly every faith for the purpose of experiencing the sacredness of God. The earliest music one experiences is the heartbeat of their mother. The simple heartbeat is the sound of the universe – the sound of life. Drumming is a time -honored method of uniting people, and the power of drumming multiplies on many levels in a group of drummers.

We invite you to join us for Spiritual Drumming on Wednesdays during Lent on March 29th, from 7:00 – 8:00pm. Share in the prayers and rhythmic energy of the drum as we lift our prayers up to God. We'll explore our Lenten theme, "Ask", and engage in conversations and questions. No previous music experience is necessary, and drums will be provided. See Pat Bauer if you have more questions about drumming, and please sign-up in the narthex.

A Different New Year!

Joseph Imhoff

In 525 Dionysius Exiguus, a Scythian monk in the Eastern part of the Roman Empire, was working with the Gregorian and Julian calendars making tables to compute the dates for Easter, at the same time he invented the system of having Leap Years divisible by four and introduced the AD or Anno Domino (Year of out Lord) into the calendar until the secular world began using CE (Common Era). These and other innovations adapted from various calendars at the time were included in his method and adopted by the Church and remain with us.

As my dad would say when working on projects around the house that didn't go as planned, "Nothing simple is ever easy!" His next suggestion was to make March 25 the beginning of the calendar because the Era of Grace began with the Incarnation of Christ which was celebrated on that day. It was also Easter Day that year and at the time it was believed that significant events in a person's life (famous people) took place on the day of their conception!

Thus Christmas Day was fixed as December 25, nine months to the day of March 25, the stories related in St. Luke with the visit by Gabriel to Mary and also to Joseph in St. Matthew which we associate with the Season of Advent. It is a significant celebration in the Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, Anglican and Lutheran churches. Some denominations may move the celebration if the date falls during Holy Week and Easter but Orthodox churches celebrate combine it with the other, even Good Friday.

Saturday marks the Feast of the Annunciation, the angel Gabriel appeared to Mary and announced that she had been chosen to become the mother of the Messiah, naming him Jesus, meaning 'YHWH' is salvation, the first letter of the unspoken יהוה Name of God in Hebrew ()('yod) being the same as same as 'שוע' Jesus' name reading right to left. Nine months from this day it will be Christmas, the traditional hymn for this day comes from the time of St. Athanasius:

Today is the beginning of our salvation, And the revelation of the eternal mystery! The Son of God becomes the Son of the Virgin As Gabriel announces the coming of Grace. Together with him let us cry to the Theotokos: "Rejoice, O Full of Grace, the Lord is with you!"

Coming and Going

There is a lot of coming and going in today's gospel. Mary and Martha send a messenger to Jesus with news that Lazarus is ill. Jesus and his disciples do not go right away, but eventually they come to Martha after Lazarus has died. We learn that many had come to console the sisters. Martha proclaims Jesus "the Messiah, the Son of God, is the one coming into the world" (John 11:27). She then goes to get Mary, who comes quickly to Jesus. Mary is weeping, and so are those who come with her. When Jesus asks where Lazarus is, they invite him to come and see. They all go to the tomb. With all of this coming and going, it is not surprising that Jesus tells Lazarus to come out and that Jesus commands others to unbind him so he can go.

Lazarus emerging from the tomb is a remarkable moment, but just as remarkable are the connections of all of this story's coming and going with our daily lives. Our health comes and goes. Jobs come and go. People come into our lives and go. Kids go, and perhaps come back again. Sometimes we are the ones who come and go. The grief of loss and death comes and goes. Tears come and go. Hope can even come and go.

Amid this movement, we come together in worship. We come to gather around the font and the table and hear again the stories of Jesus coming into the world, going to the cross, and coming again in the resurrection. We come together with our griefs and joys, our struggles and celebrations, all that binds us and sets us free. We come to gather, surrounded by God's grace. Having come, we will go in peace to serve the Lord. Thanks be to God! ~

Hans Nielsen Hauge, renewer of the church, died 1824

Wednesday, March 29, 2023

Hauge was a layperson who wished to revitalize the church in Norway. As a result of a mystical experience, he felt called to preach. Many professionals in the church feared his motives and influence, and he was imprisoned for leading unauthorized gatherings.

John Donne, poet, died 1631 Friday, March 31, 2023

After finishing his education at Oxford University, Donne seemed headed for a career in the English public service. But a series of circumstances led him into the ordained ministry. He is well known as a writer of both secular and sacred poetry.
